

Dated as of2011

Dear

You have been assigned bymagazine (the "Publication") to take certain live concert photographs of 'Linkin Park' (the "Artist") on ("Concert"). You are hereby expressly prohibited from photographing any images other than as provided herein. Artist's representatives authorizes you to photograph Artist, provided that such photography occurs, during Artist's performance of the first three songs of the Concert and with NO flash from the pit.

You shall be responsible for all costs related to the foregoing, unless otherwise specified herein. This agreement shall authorize you and the Publication (and it's media clients) to use said photographs solely for a period of seven days after the above stated date.

You acknowledge that you and/or the Publication's or any other party's use of any photographs or other materials related to Artist, including Artist's name and likeness, other than that which is specifically permitted by this agreement, shall cause irreparable harm, injury, damage and expense to Artist. Further, you agree that Artist shall be entitled to equitable relief, in addition to any other remedy Artist may have in the event that you or the photographer may breach any of the conditions of this authorization.

Should you fail to fully comply with this authorization, in addition to any other remedy Artist has available, Artist's representative shall be permitted to confiscate and/or destroy your film, retain your equipment, and eject you from the venue. You hereby release and indemnify Artist in connection with the foregoing and your and the photographer's attendance at the Concert and venue.

The foregoing shall be deemed to be the complete understanding between you and the Publication and Artist.

Sincerely.....
